Onderwerp: RE: WEF GFC on Mobility | City Mobility Charter

Dear workstream members,

After a productive call last week and a quick touch base today, I am pleased to present you with one last look at the document before we begin sharing it widely across the GFC and outside sources. For now, I am not listing authors directly. Rather just linking to the Global Future Council on Mobility as a whole. Please let me know if you would like me to send this out to your contacts or if you would like to share yourself.

In addition to cleaning up the document, I have made a few recent changes based on comments received. I am accepted nearly all the changes and resolved nearly all the comments. The tracked changes and comments still listed are there as FYIs and to draw your attention to those passages.

@[redacted]@uber.com', @[redacted]', [redacted], I have comments in the document specifically addressing points you have brought up in the past. If you could please, as quickly as possible review the document and verify. I will begin sharing this document widely COB tomorrow.

Timeline
11 Oct: v4 circulated for peer review
21 Oct: peer review complete
23 & 24 Oct: v4 review calls
25 Oct: v5 final draft complete
28 Oct: deliver to WEF editing

Thank you!

Dear workstream members,

It has been a bit since I have been in touch, and I am pleased to be sending this email with an update.

[redacted]

- Edits from discussions on 5 & 6 August have now been incorporated.
- If you would like to a history of edits made, please look at the version history.
- Ask: Please review and make final edits (using the suggestion feature)/comments to the document by Wednesday, 2 October
- I will be coordinating times with [redacted] for a call to review the feedback next week.
- Following the calls, we will circulate the document with the wider GFC and additional peers
- Questions to consider while reviewing:
    - How can we better distinguish the Charter as the next step for signatories to the Shared Mobility Principles? Where are the instances of overlap?
    - Are we able to modify the practices in detail in a manner that truly pushes the boundaries of the status quo?
    - Is the "Path Forward" section sufficient? How should this document conclude?

Sustainable Development Impact Summit

- The Forum hosted the Sustainable Development Impact Summit, 23-24 September in conjunction with the UNGA and Climate Week.
- Two sessions run by the mobility team featured an update on the City Mobility Charter. [redacted] CTO of Amsterdam, represented Sharon Dijksma at these sessions to make note of the Charter and review its contents. During the peer review, we will share the Charter with participants of these sessions for their feedback.
    - Sessions featuring the City Mobility Charter included:
        - Getting to work: Collaborative solutions for transporting tomorrow's workforce: The other GFC on Mobility workstream's [redacted] inspired the session, which discussed the impact of public-private partnerships on mobility through the lens of the employee commute. The session included GFC on Mobility members [redacted] and [redacted] as well as [redacted] for Sharon Dijksma.
        - [redacted] Steering Meeting: This session marks the [redacted] of the Forum's Global New Mobility Coalition. The workshop style session functioned in two parts—the first on the vision for a shared, autonomous and electric mobility future—which featured City Mobility Charter—and the second on effective policies for implementing this future. The session also [redacted] and [redacted]

Please let me know if you have any questions or comments; otherwise, I will be in touch shortly.

Subject: RE: WEF GFC on Mobility | City Mobility Charter

Dear workstream members,

Touching base to provide an update on our progress and path forward.

After two robust calls, we are nearly complete with reviewing feedback to the v2 of the Charter. I will schedule two calls for next week (the one on Friday being 'just in case') to finish up reviewing feedback. From there, we will incorporate all feedback and distribute v3 of the Charter. Following one more round of feedback, we will share v4 of the Charter more widely to allow for some peer review and seek a final publication in early November. During the next call, we can discuss if it is necessary to review once more among ourselves or if we are better served by bringing it to peers faster.

Recap of 5 & 6 August calls

- Reviewed the top line of all practices
- Reviewed the practices in detail for practices 1-3
- I am in the process of integrating this feedback into the charter.
- Next call will review practices in detail for practises 4-8 and finalize all v2 feedback

Upcoming calls

- Tuesday, 27 August, 10:30-12:00 EST
- Friday, 27 August, 10:00-11:00 EST (optional)
- Agenda:
    - Confirmation of next steps
    - Review of Charter feedback
        - Practices in detail: Practices 4-8
    - Identification of items for further discussion

Proposed Timeline

- 27 & 30 Aug: v2 review calls
- 3 -13 Sept: v3 circulated, feedback collected
- 16 & 17 Sept: v3 review calls

- 23 Sept - 7 Oct: v4 circulated for peer review –
  - Note: Sharon to 'debut' for peer review at 23 Sept session at WEF event
- 9 & 10 Oct: v4 review calls
- 14 Oct: v5 final draft complete
- 15 Oct: deliver to WEF editing

On the radar:

- [redacted] (Sept 23-24, New York)
  - Global New Mobility Coalition Meeting on Innovations in Urban Mobility workshop - Monday, 23 Sept 16:00-18:00 at WEF office (hosted in collaboration with the [redacted]
  - Sharon Dijksma will 'debut' the Charter to this group and solicit for peer feedback
- November publication
  - Document to be published through WEF editing process
    - If additional graphics are needed or heavier editing, we can explore.

Dear workstream members,

Looking forward to speaking with you on Monday and Tuesday to discuss the feedback to v2 of the Charter. The meeting will review each section of the Charter based off of the feedback on the document. There will be opportunity to include additional comments over the phone. Below, find links to the Charter and my notes for the call. My goal is to get through the high level practices and then get as far as we can through the detailed bullet points.

Dear workstream members,

Thank you for those who were able to join the call to discuss the latest version of the draft.

From now until, 26 July, we will be collecting feedback on the Charter. We will host a call 31 July (TBC) to review the feedback received and discuss any points requiring additional debate. We will seek to publish the Charter via WEF channels on in mid-September.

Key questions to consider when reviewing the Charter

- We agreed in Dubai that a Charter should exist to help cities and new mobility service providers collaborate. In so doing, how well does the Charter distinguish itself as the practical application of the Shared Mobility Principles? Is there a way this can be strengthened?
- Do the 8 practices cover everything? Should they be expanded?
- The Charter includes Terms of Engagement for how cities and mobility partners should collaborate on a basic level (have a contact person, have a way to communicate new innovations in the field). Do you agree with the purpose of this section? If yes, are there other terms you would suggest adding? If no, why?
- Are there other key stakeholders outside of the GFC on Mobility who we should be getting feedback from?

Timeline

- 26 July: All feedback due on v2 of the Charter
- 31 July (TBC): Workstream call to review feedback to Charter
- 9 August: [redacted] to circulate v3 of Charter for final review by the workstream
- 23 August: All feedback due on v3 of the Charter
- 30 August: [redacted] delivers Charter to WEF editing team
- Mid September: Charter is published via WEF platform

Other outputs related to the Charter

- [redacted]
    - During the Forum's event (targeted participants are CEOs/high level figures), the mobility team will host a workshop "Preparing Cities for Mobility Innovations of the Future"
    - The workshop will incorporate the Charter and true cost pricing work. I am interested to hear your feedback on what outcomes from this workshop would be helpful to the progress of the charter. Perhaps this could be a testing ground for the success of the Charter or an opportunity to brainstorm a potential next phase for this workstream in the lead up to AMGFC19.

Dear workstream members,

My apologies for the delay since you have last heard from me. In addition to concentrating some time on the other workstreams (the challenge and true cost pricing paper), we have been working to revamp the Charter from its previous iteration. Since it is often easiest to provide critique and feedback, we are working on a document to share with you at the end of this month rather than endeavouring to write something from scratch on large calls. At the end of next week, I will be in touch with a draft of the Charter. The following week, we will host a call to review the charter. During this call, it will be especially important to verify that the charter works for BOTH cities and the private sector—we will welcome candid critique to get us there.

Next call:

- 2 July, 10:45-11:45

Agenda:

- Review of Charter outline
- Review of Charter principles
- Review of Charter terms of engagement

If you have any questions or have free time to get more involved in the next week, let me know!

Dear Workstream members,

We will be hosting a "city mobility charter" workstream call on 10 April 10am EST. My apologies for the very short notice. This will be the first workstream call, and we will intend to have regular calls ever three weeks.

The purpose of the meeting will be to conduct initial planning for the City Mobility Charter workstream. The City of Amsterdam has done some preliminary work drafting an outline of the charter based on their experiences with new mobility players in their city. To facilitate a productive call, we ask you to complete the following action (should take no more than 10 minutes).

ACTION

- Prior to the call, please review the draft outline of the charter ([redacted]) put together by the City of Amsterdam (about 10 min)
- Please provide comment/ feedback regarding the charter's outline—What is missing?
- Please comment directly on the file or email the comments to me. Directions for commenting in the document below.
