Hi [redacted]

I hope you are all doing well. I am pleased to share with you the below email that was sent to Sharon and the other GFC on Mobility members yesterday circulating the City Mobility Charter for feedback. This document would not have come together without your direct and active contribution—thank you to all of you especially Lizann!

In the next week, will you please review as a team and comment your final bits of feedback on the document? Please share with colleagues in other cities for their feedback as well.

Looking forward to your feedback!

Subject: WEF GFC on Mobility | Feedback requested - City Mobility Charter

Dear GFC on Mobility,

On behalf of the City Mobility Charter workstream, I am pleased to share with you a near final version of the City Mobility Charter for your review and feedback. The workstream welcomes you to share the document in your network for additional feedback.

We are collecting feedback on the Charter from now until Tuesday 22 October. The Charter will be finalized for publication at the end of October.

Please review the document and provide your feedback via comments directly through the text either on the [redacted] or via the attached Word doc.

The City Mobility Charter seeks to outline a practical collaboration guide for cities and mobility service partners to ensure innovative, efficient, sustainable and inclusive mobility for all and to implement the Shared Mobility Principles for Livable Cities. The concept for the City Mobility Charter was devised during conversations at the Annual Meeting of the Global Future Councils in November 2018. Since then, the workstream has met regularly to discuss, author and finalize the Charter.

With any questions, please do not hesitate to reach out to me or workstream members. Workstream members include: Sharon Dijksma (with [redacted]), [redacted] (with [redacted] and [redacted] [redacted] (with [redacted], [redacted]

Thank you,

Subject: RE: WEF GFC on Mobility | Update on recent Forum collaboration

Dear GFC on Mobility members,

I'd like to share an exciting update from the Forum's [redacted]. The Global New Mobility Coalition (which is focused on accelerating the use of shared, electric and autonomous mobility) published today in conjunction with the C40 World Mayors Summit [redacted]. Please check out the letter (you might recognize some signatories) and share it with your networks. I feel the GFC on Mobility's forthcoming true cost pricing white paper and City Mobility Charter will compliment this letter nicely!

Enjoy your weekends,

Dear Council Members,

I am pleased to share a brief update on recent activities of the Global Future Council.

Sustainable Development Impact Summit

- The Forum's event took place 23-24 September in conjunction with the UNGA and Climate Week.
- Two sessions run by the mobility team featured an update on the City Mobility Charter. [redacted], CTO of Amsterdam, represented Sharon Dijksma at these sessions to make note of the Charter and review its contents. During the peer review, we will share the Charter with participants of these sessions for their feedback.
    - Sessions featuring the City Mobility Charter included:
        - Getting to work: Collaborative solutions for transporting tomorrow's workforce: The other GFC on Mobility workstream's [redacted] inspired the session, which discussed the impact of public-private partnerships on mobility through the lens of the employee commute. The session included GFC on Mobility members [redacted] and [redacted] [redacted] as well as [redacted] for Sharon Dijksma.
        - Global New Mobility Coalition Steering Meeting: This session marked the [redacted] the Forum's Global New Mobility Coalition. The workshop style session functioned in two parts—the first on the vision for a shared, autonomous and electric mobility future—which featured the City Mobility Charter—and the second on effective policies for implementing this future. The session also features [redacted] and [redacted] as speakers.

Thank you,
