

mail must meet the standards of the government-imposed E-mail security as set by the Standardization Forum.
Any E-mail failing to meet said security policy may be blocked as a result of which it will not reach the intended recipient. The recipient concerned will not be notified.
